Some of these factors are uncontrollable. Nbnetheless, continuous efforts are made by the Food Corporation of India to reduce its handling costs through measures like optimum utilisation of storage capacity, resorting to open sale of wheat/rice to reduce increasing storage cost, strict supervision on movement of foodgrains, for controlling incidence of transit and storage losses, reduction in man power by banning recruitment to entry level posts and not filling vacancies arising out of resignation, retirement etc., adopting a systematic policy of liquidating CAP storage, issuing old stocks, disposing of C&D category stocks and reducing demurrage charges etc.
